

EC-47 MEMORIAL PLAZA

GOODFELLOW AIR FORCE BASE WING HEADQUARTERS

A Vietnam War replica EC-47 "Electric Goon" was dedicated in front of the Norma Brown building on Oct. 28, 2005. This static display aircraft was put in place as a tribute to the intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance mission that has been the Goodfellow training focus since 1958. The EC-47 ARDF (Airborne Radio Direction Finding) History Exhibit was opened inside the building on July 25, 2014.

Nearly 1,000 pavers with bronze engraving plates are available to honor veterans of all services and dates of service. It is envisioned that this memorial plaza will be a place where living and deceased veterans from all branches of the military can be honored and remembered. The plaza will be the setting for special ceremonies as well as a sanctuary for quiet reflection.

INSCRIPTIONS

Inscriptions may be as simple as the veteran's name, branch and dates of service on the four-line rectangle bronze plate - to adding a meaningful service emblem and service-related details on the larger seven-line round bronze plate. All inscriptions should be respectful. The Heritage Chapter will review all submissions before sending them to the engraver.

The pavers will be pre-installed in the layout design. Each paver has an indentation matching the shape of the bronze plate. The engraved plates will be glued into the pavers with an industrial-grade adhesive to prepare them for a dedication event at the plaza on Vietnam War Veterans Day each year in March.
